BUGS SLEEPING WOMAN; FIRES HOME

2 FAMILIES ARE NEAR DEATH IN FLAMES

Victim of Chloroform Loses Her Diamonds and Purse--Valuable Gowns Are Burned.

Setting fire to an apartment house to conceal a robbery, or to cover his retreat, a daring burglar imperiled the lives of two families early Thursday morning at Nos. 7 and 8 Mills street.

The two-story apartment was discovered in flames at 3:30 o'clock, and the family of Mrs.
Caroline Duncan, on the lower floor, and that of Carl Witt, on the upper floor, were aroused just in time to save them.

Mrs. Duncan, in particular, was hardly awakened, and had almost to be carried from the building, even after reaching her peril.

Gems and Money Taken.
"Oh, I'm so drowsy--I can't get my eyes open," she complained. Later, she said she must have been drugged, for the odor of chloroform still was in her nostrils.

Then she discovered that her diamond earrings were missing, and a search in a bureau drawer, rescued from the fire, showed that it had been rummaged and her purse, containing $45, taken.

Police Captain Poole visited the scene of the fire, which partly destroyed the building.

The blaze appears to have started in the rear of the basement," he said.
He detailed two detectives to the case.

Fine Gowns Burned.
Mrs. Witt is a retired restaurant proprietor. Mrs. Duncan is a fac-tious dressmaker, and a large part of her loss in the fire was in the form of handsome gowns, either finished or in the making.

"I have lost not less than $500 worth of gowns outright," she said, "and at least $1,000 of partly made gowns and material were damaged."

"This case on the surface looks like a carefully planned crime," Captain Poole said. "Of course, the fire may have been accidental, but occurring right on the heels of the drugging and robbery, it looks like a ruse to divert attention and to cover a lesser crime."

Her Mother Dying, Girl Tries Suicide

A girl, who was found in an unconscious condition on the steps of a Chinese restaurant on East Alabama street Wednesday night, Thursday gave her name as Mabel Reynolds and her address as Montgomery, Ala.

The young woman, found by Plainclothes Officers Garret and Fortson, did not speak until she reached the police station. There she said she had taken tablets, declaring that her mother was dying in Montgomery and that she had no friends. She was rushed to the Grady Hospital and recovered. Thursday she is held at the police station.

Shot Dead as She Kneels in Prayer

WHESTER, Nov. 12.—Mrs. Gustave Conli was fatally shot here as she knelt in prayer at her bedroom door and clapped her 11-month-old baby, Maria, in her arms.

In the next room her husband, Carmelo Conli, was fighting with Martini Portenti over a $10 debt.

Police Captain Poole visited the scene of the fire, which partly destroyed the building.

LAOS CHIEF FOR 'CLEAN ATLANTA'

Famous Illinois Reform Worker to Begin a State-Wide Crusade at Augusta.

Mrs. Virginia Brooks Washburn, noted Chicago reformer and suffrage leader, who is in Atlanta for a brief stay, Thursday declared she would make the speech of her life in Augusta on Saturday, in a supreme effort to arouse the women of that city into starting a vice crusade which would clean up the city.

She wrote a long letter to the women of that city urging them to send a delegation of the best workers to Atlanta to interview Chief Beavers in regard to the "cleaning up process" used here and to get the benefit of the local chiefs' experience with the vice problem.

"It is the duty of all women to aid in cleaning up the city for cleaning is the natural business of woman," declared Mrs. Brooks Washburn.

Women Held Power, She Says.
"I will do everything in my power to stir up the women in the United States to make an active, nationwide crusade against vice. Women must use the influence they naturally exercise over men to make a successful fight. I want every woman in Georgia to do this. A woman can do wonders if she will use this influence."

"Keep the fire of anti-vice blazing high and the cleaning broom moving with mighty sweeps."

"Atlanta made no mistake when the segregated district was entirely wiped out. It was one of the greatest steps ever taken in the city's progress."

"The ballot will be slower in coming to the woman of the South than to the woman of the North," said Mrs. Washburn, "but eventually it will come and when it does a mighty cleaning up will follow. A few years after the woman of America gets the vote, vice will be practically wiped out and prohibition that prohibits will be in full force."

Beats Suffrage for South.
Mrs. Brooks Washburn, formerly the secretary of the Equal Suffrage Association of Illinois, and as Virginia
Brooks, gained national fame.

"It will take a long and vigorous campaign in the South to get the vote," she said, "because the men here will have to be first educated concerning woman's right to vote and then slowly brought around so they will favor it."

"After my interview with Chief Beavers I am confident that the situation here is in good hands and am mighty pleased to find a chief of police with the nerve and broad mind that Chief Beavers possesses."

Mrs. Washburn, the wife of Charles Washburn, a newspaperman, went to Athens Thursday. She speaks there Thursday night and then goes to Augusta, where she speaks Saturday.

He died Thursday night at the St.
Joseph Infirmary after a short illness.
Deihl was a member of the old volunteer fire company No. 1, of which there are but a few members left.
Until he took sick he was general foreman of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, where he had been employed for 45 years. Deihl lived at No. 42 Woodward avenue. He is survived by a wife and three sons, A. L., D. and J. C. A. Deihl, and four sisters, Mrs.

conspicuous they will be in evidence.

LIND QUILTS CAPITAL; BREAK NEAR

Wilson's Special Envoy Goes Back to Vera Cruz and Has Effects Removed to Consulate.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 12.—John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson to Mexico, arrived here from Mexico City shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. He went directly to the United States Consulate where all his goods were removed last night from the Terminal Hotel by order of Consul Canale.

No excitement was caused by the arrival of Mr. Lind, though there has been a feeling for more than 24 hours that relations between the United States and Mexico were at the breaking point.

Seen as Final Step.
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 12.—The return of John Lind, special diplomatic representative of President Wilson to Vera Cruz, is looked upon here today as one of the final steps which will lead to an open break between the United States Government and the Huerta regime. This may come within 24 hours.

There appeared to be ground for the belief that President Wilson decided to have Mr. Lind out of this when he makes public to the world the new policy of the United States in the Mexican situation.

Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the United States Charge d'Affaires, spent the entire night in his office at the embassy, sending dispatches to Washington and arranging important state papers. His work was frequently interrupted by visits from American residents of the capital, who desired Mr. O'Shaughnessy's opinion as to whether it would be safe to remain in the capital any longer.

O'Shaughnessy Ready to Leave.
That section of the Mexican press which is so hostile to General Huerta, commented with biting phrases on Washington reports that President Wilson will allow the Constitutionalists to import arms if General Huerta persist in conveying Congress this month to affirm the "secession" held out on October 24.

Reports were current that Mr.
O'Shaughnessy was asking for preparatory to leaving Mexico City, but this was denied at the United States Embassy as "absurd." Nevertheless, it is known that he would not be surprised to receive the passports at any moment.

The movements of the United States warships in Mexican waters indicated that if intervention was ordered, war ships will be landed simultaneously at Vera Cruz and Tampico. The Mexico City offices of the Western-Pacific Company received word from their branch offices at Vera Cruz saying that United States marines probably would be landed within 24 hours.

Wilson's Program Reported in London.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Interest in the American policy with regard to Mexico was increased here today by a London Times article written by the newspaper's Washington correspondent and forwarded by cable. The correspondent represented the following as having been formulated by President Wilson.

The United States will insist upon the elimination of General Huerta and all those closely connected with him from the control of public affairs and in Mexico 1913

Boy Saves Drugged Mother From Flames

THIEF ROBS AND FIRES HOUSE

Two Families Imperiled as Apartment Burns—Rings Stolen From Woman's Ears.

The heroism of Ludwig Duncan, 9 years old, probably saved the life of his mother and probably that of his mother who had been threatened by a burglar early Thursday morning when fire was discovered in their home, Nos. 7 and 9 Mills street, after it had been robbed.

The boy and his brother, Reynolds, who is 3 years old, were asleep in a room adjoining that of their mother when the blaze was discovered. It is supposed to have been started by the burglar in an effort to cover up his tracks.

Shooting to his mother to get her, Ludwig lifted his baby brother into his arms and carried him out of the burning building. Then the boy returned to his mother's room, where he found her lying on the floor, unconscious. With frantic hands he shook Mrs. Duncan to awaken her. She seemed to be in a stupor.

Drugged From Sleep.
"Oh, I feel so drowsy," she murmured. "I can't get my eyes open."

By the time the flames were eating their way into the bedroom. The sight of the flames served to bring the woman to her senses, and she fled with her young son to the street.

On the second floor, the family of Carl Witt, a retired restaurant proprietor, were aroused by the screams of the Duncan family, barely in time to escape down the stairway. Miss Wells, a lodger with the family, leaped through her bedroom window to the rear porch which was a mass of flames. She was badly burned about her feet.

Rings Taken From Ears.
When Mrs. Duncan finally regained her composure, she found that her diamond earrings had been stripped from her ears. A search of a bureau drawer, rescued from the fire, showed that it had been rummaged and her rings, containing $50, taken.

Police Captain Poole visited the scene of the fire, which partly destroyed the building.

The blaze appears to have started in the rear of the basement, he said. He detained two detectives to the case.

Mr. Witt is a retired restaurant proprietor. Mrs. Duncan is a fashionable dressmaker, and a large part of her loss in the fire was in the form of handsome gowns, either finished or in the making.

"I have lost not less than $500 worth of gowns outright," she said, "and at least $1,000 of partly made gowns and material were damaged."

Queen Needs Funds, King Would Lease Rooms to Empress

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.
LONDON, Nov. 12.—With a view of increasing his mother's income, which has always been insufficient for her needs owing to her extensive charities and well-known extravagance in many things, King George has long been endeavoring to arrange so that the Dowager Empress of Russia might take up permanent residence with Queen Alexandra at Sandringham.

It is known that the Empress was willing to pay a sum equal to $125,000 yearly for such a privilege.

It is alleged that Mrs. Blazer incurred such injuries that she is now a helpless invalid, her eyesight, hearing and spine affected, and partial paralysis of the face caused.

EXECUTOR'S DEWMURDER UPHELD

Battle to Prevent Big Estate Going to College To Be Taken to Supreme Court.

The heir-at-law of Mrs. Barbara Dodd lost the opening battle in her estate of nearly a quarter of a million dollars when Judge Ellis, at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, sustained a demurrer filed by Charles E. Currier, as executor of the will, through his attorneys, C. P. Gore and Westmoreland Bros.

Luther Rosser, an attorney for the heirs, announced immediately that an appeal would be taken to the Supreme Court, and the sensational evidence said to have been prepared by the plaintiffs will be divulged there, if ever.

Judge Ellis' ruling promptly shut off the impending testimony, which charged monomaniac and intimated even in the preliminary version of the case, an accusation that Mrs. Dodd, estranged because her relatives would not help her "disappear" of her first husband, had cut them off from participation in her estate.

Witnesses Say She Was Safe.
Mr. Currier had three witnesses Thursday morning to speak for Mrs. Dodd's soundness of mind at the time the will was drawn in December, 1909. Albert C. Broom, a witness to the document; Miss Clifton Linden, the stenographer who typed the will and who had known Mrs. Dodd four years; and C. P. Gore, the attorney who drew the will, all testified that Mrs. Dodd was of sound mind and able to make an intelligent disposition of her property.

Mrs. Fannie T. Ackerman, of Macon, a sister of Mrs. Dodd; Henry E. Dibble, a brother; and Barbara E. Dibble, Oscar C. Dibble, George Dibble, Malcomb Dibble and Thomas M. Dibble, niece and nephews of Mrs. Dodd, are contending the will.

Of her estate Mrs. Dodd left $200,000 to Mercer College, $2,000 to the Georgia Baptist Orphan's Home, $2,000 to the infant ward at Grady Hospital, and the proceeds from the sale of her jewelry, except a diamond bequeathed to her niece, to the Home for Old Women. She left her sister $25,000, $2,000 and a diamond to her niece, and $5,000 in a trust fund for her brother, Henry Dibble.

Mrs. Dodd was married in 1901 to H. Warner, whom she later divorced, charging cruelty and intemperance. The complaining divorced wife asserted that her failure to take an active part with her in the controversy with her husband affected a mind already unbalanced and caused her to cut them off from the bulk of her estate.

EUPAULA, ALA., Nov. 13.—Ninety persons were killed and 150 others injured in a wreck of a passenger train at Clayton, near here this morning.

The train was loaded with excursionists and was speeding at a high rate, it is declared, when the accident occurred. A rail gave way beneath the engine and precipitated the entire train into a ditch.

Three passenger coaches are said to have been telescoped.

WHEATON, ILL., Nov. 12.—"You're ten minutes late, you old bonehead. Why don't you get some action?"

Atlanta Social World To Be Well Represented at Nuptials in Capital December 30.

BUYERS RUSH DIXIE'S GREATEST AUTO SHOW

A half dozen general sales managers viewed their surprise Thursday in the Auditorium with everyone happy.

The largest crowds of the show are expected at the Auditorium Thursday night. This has been set aside as "society night," and gives promise of being the most brilliant affair since grand opera.

Every evening of the show has been marked by the attractive gowns and the jewels of the women of Atlanta's society set, but with a slight especially designated they will be in greater profusion than ever. South's hand will play afternoon and evening.

The rush for new cars from all parts of the South was recorded as an impressive comment on the prosperity of this section of the country. The automobile men knew they had the good custom crop and other favorable conditions to thank for the warmth of the reception they received.

Factory representatives were astonished at the results the exhibition had accomplished. They looked upon the South as a field not fully occupied by the dealers, would-be dealers and individual buyers from Georgia and adjoining States who are here demanding cars.

Atlanta society will be well represented when Edwin A. Peoples, prominent in this city, will marry Miss Robyn Young, one of the prettiest debutantes in Washington last season, in the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, Washington, at 8 o'clock December 30.

Owing to the popularity of Miss Young, the wedding will be one of the most brilliant affairs of the holiday season at the Capital, and will be followed by a dance and reception at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson D. Young.

Information received by friends of Mr. Peoples is that several Atlanta debutantes of last year will be included in the bridal party, although it has not been definitely named as yet.

Miss Young is an only child, and her father is a fortune teller, and her mother is a fortune teller.

She is an accomplished musician and has sung leading roles in several society operas, and has taken leading speaking parts in other amateur plays given by Washington society folk.

She inaugurated the fall last year the younger set of giving picnic luncheons in Rock Creek Park and during the first of the Washington society girls to dance chaise longue.

Miss Young was in December will give a dinner-dance for the mothers of her bridal party, which by that time will be decided upon.

WILSON TO ANNOUNCE STAND TO-DAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico will be severed within 48 hours unless President Huerta agrees to the more pressing points of the American demands.

This was learned at the State Department to-day. It was supplemented by the additional information that the severance of diplomatic relations will not necessarily mean war unless Huerta takes the initiative against the United States.

President Wilson to-day completed his statement relating to Mexican affairs and announcement was made that it would be made public this afternoon. The statement reviews the negotiations of the past few weeks and defines the policy of the United States. It is understood that dispatches from William Hayard Hale, who conferred yesterday with General Carranza, had a marked influence on the statement.

Secretary of State Bryan to-day received advice from Charge O'Shaughnessy, John Lind and Mr. Hale, which indicate that the Mexican situation has once more reached a climax.

Lind reported that he has left Mexico City for Vera Cruz, where he will remain until recalled by the President. His mission to Mexico City is admittedly a failure. He probably will leave Vera Cruz for the United States within a few days.

Word reached the department that Mr. Lind had gone to the United States Embassy instead of the hotel in Vera Cruz, the police having learned of a plan to assassinate him.

Charge O'Shaughnessy informed the State Department to-day that President Huerta shows no intention of acceding to the demands of the United States. O'Shaughnessy recommends that this Government withdraw all its diplomatic agents and leave Huerta to shift for himself.

The American Charge has shown himself unalterably opposed to the United States, and that the Government shall have nothing further to do with him. In the event of the withdrawal of the American diplomats, the official business of this government will be placed in the hands of one of the European diplomats in Mexico City.

Lind in Vera Cruz; Hear Assassination Plot

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 12.—John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson to Mexico, arrived here from Mexico City shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. He went directly to the United States Consulate, where his goods were removed last night from Terminal Hotel by order of General Carranza.

No excitement was caused here by the arrival of Mr. Lind, though there has been a feeling for more than 24 hours that relations between the two governments are at a breaking point.

BOY HERO WHO SAVED HIS BROTHER AND MOTHER FROM BURNING HOME

Ludwig Duncan, aged 9, and his little brother Reynolds, whom he carried from the burning home early Thursday. Ludwig also awakened his mother, who had been drugged by the thief who, it is thought, started the blaze to hide his tracks.

HUERTA HES AFTER NIGHT OF DEBAUCHERY

THIEF ROBS AND FIRES HOUSE

Two Families Imperiled as Apartment Burns—Rings Stolen From Woman's Ears.

The residence of Ludwig Duncan, 9 years old, probably saved the life of his younger brother and probably that of his mother who had been chloroformed by a burglar early Thursday morning when fire was discovered in their home, Nos. 7 and 9 Mills street, after it had been robbed.

The boy and his brother, Reynolds, who is 2 years old, were asleep in a room adjoining that of their mother when the blaze was discovered. It is supposed to have been started in the rear of the two-story building by the burglar in an effort to cover up his tracks.

Shouting to his mother to get her valuables, Ludwig lifted his baby brother into his arms and carried him out of the burning building. Then the boy returned to his mother's room, which by that time was filled with smoke. With frantic hands he shook Mrs. Duncan to awaken her. She seemed to be in a stupor.

"Oh, I feel so drowsy," she murmured. "I can't get my eyes open. By this time the flames were eating their way into the bedroom. The sight of the flames served to bring the woman to her senses, and she fled with her young son to the street.

On the second floor, the family of Carl Witt, a retired restaurant proprietor, were aroused by the screams of the Duncan family, barely in time to escape down the stairway. Miss Alma Witt, a sister with the family, leaped through her bedroom window to the rear porch, which was a mass of flames. She was badly burned about her feet.

Pedestrians who rushed to the scene of the fire saved a small amount of the furniture. They discovered the first traces of the burglar when in endeavoring to send in an alarm over the telephone they found the wires had been cut. The electric light wires also were cut. The window in Mrs. Duncan's bedroom, which opened into an alley at the side of the house, was open, indicating the intruder's entrance.

Rings Taken From Ears. When Mrs. Duncan finally regained her composure, she found that her diamond earrings had been stripped from her ears. A search of a jewelry drawer, reached from the fire, showed that it had been rummaged and her purse, containing $10, taken.

Police Captain Poole visited the scene of the fire, which partly destroyed the building.

The case appears to have started in the rear of the basement," he said. He detailed two detectives to the case. Mr. Witt is a retired restaurant proprietor. Mrs. Duncan is a fashionable dressmaker, and a large part of her loss in the fire was in the form of handsome gowns either finished or in the making.

"I have lost not less than $500 worth of gowns," she said, "and at least $1,000 of partly made gowns and material were damaged."

This case on the surface looks like a carefully planned crime," Captain Poole said. "Of course, the fire must have been accidental, on occurring right on the heels of the burglary and robbery. It looks like a case to divert suspicion and to cover a lesser crime."

DICTATOR IS BEHEED YIELDING

Tension Is Relieved, Says Wilson. Abdication Rumors Fill Mexican Capital. Thought Denied.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Wilson to-day let it be known that a favorable development had taken place in the Mexican situation and that the tension of the past 24 hours had been relieved. He told visitors that the prospects of ousting Huerta had improved, but he did not disclose the nature of the information which led him to make this assertion. It is now possible that he will make no announcement whatsoever.

In discussing the situation with callers, the President said that he had received no word from Envoy Lind since the latter departed from Mexico City last night.

"There are elements in this case which I can not at present discuss, but which make it more favorable," declared the President, in discussing Mexican affairs in his conference with the newspaper men to-day.

The President was willing to allow himself to be quoted to this extent because of his desire that the country should know that it need not be apprehensive over the present condition of affairs.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 13.—An official notification was published to-day ordering those Mexican Senators and Deputies who were elected on October 26 to assemble November 15 in their respective states in order to effect their organization.

Reports are current here this afternoon that General Huerta, realizing the futility of further defying the United States and having no money to run his government, is drawing notice of his conditional abdication. High members of the Government denied this, but indications were strong that Huerta has been compelled to yield to pressure from Washington.

The dictator was still missing, but his friends denied that he had fled from the capital, explaining that he "was in retirement."

Although members of the Mexican Cabinet declared this afternoon that General Huerta had returned to the National Palace after an absence of over 20 hours, no one could be found who had seen him.

The correspondent for the International News Service was informed that General Huerta left Mexico City on the Intercoastal Railway at 7 o'clock last night, but whether he started for Vera Cruz or retired to some town outside of the capital to proclaim his rumored abdication could not be learned.

Every report that Huerta was preparing to retire was met with the most vigorous denials.

Huerta Must Quit Within 48 Hours. WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico will be severed within 48 hours unless President Huerta agrees to the more pressing points of the American demands.

MILLIONAIRE BROTHER OF CONG. CLAYTONS AMONG MANY INJURED

EUFAULA, ALA., Nov. 13.—A broken rail on the Central of Georgia line, 17 miles west of this place, stripped the three rear coaches from an excursion train this morning, and hurled them, each packed with a hundred passengers, down an embankment 30 feet high. Nine passengers were killed and 150 injured, most of the dead being women. Many of the injured were children, with whom the cars were crowded.

Following is a list of the dead: COMP OUTSLEY, 60 years old, of Clayton, Ala. MONROE FLOYD, 50, of Clayton, Ala. MISS BONNIE BROCK, 16, of Ohio, Ala. MRS. ALTO ADAMS, of Elmville, Ala. MRS. WILBUR M'NEAN, a bride, of Clayton, Ala. CURB BELL, 16, of Clayton, Ala. CHILD OF C. F. BROCK, of Ohio, Ala. MAUD M'RAE, a negro, of Ohio, Ala.

It is said by some of the hysterical survivors that hardly a family living in the lower part of Barbour County escaped without some member of it being killed or injured.

Two hundred and twenty-five tickets had been sold on the train and there were at least many persons in the wooden coaches. Two coaches were left standing on the rails.

Among the more seriously injured are Jeff Clayton, millionaire brother of Congressman Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama.

The excursion train was running from Ozark to Euftaula, carrying a great crowd to the Barbour County Fair at that place. It was a typical holiday train, gay with new gowns among the women, and resounding with the shrill laughter and shouts of the children. All the good-humored chaff and chatter of a countryside at play was to be heard along the crowded train as it pulled slowly out from Ozark.

Train Running Fast. The train was running rapidly when the derailment occurred. Apparently the rail yielded under the weight of the locomotive, and then "sprung" or twisted upward as the train passed on. It caught the front trucks of the car third from the end, and in one dreadful instant of yielding metal and tearing wood turned the first of the three cars from the track and sent it hurtling and rolling, followed by the other two cars, to the bottom of the embankment.

The rending impact of the shock was lost in a loud scream from the passengers as the cars left the rails. Then the broken cries of children rang out as the cars rolled down the bank, and were quickly followed by the shrieks of injured women and children, pinned under broken seats and torn by glass and splinters.

From the other cars, backing up from the direction of Euftaula, a swarm of men rushed at the wrecked coaches and began to take out their occupants, some dead, some unconscious, some dazed, some weeping or screaming with the pain of their injuries.

No Houses Near. Little boys and girls huddled in the wreckage and cried piteously, or scrambled out, unhurt, with white, scared faces and breathless questions.

There was not a house nearer than Clayton, four miles away, and there also to Euftaula the injured were taken, most of them going on the relief train from Euftaula.

And there the seat of the country fair was turned suddenly into a town of mourning and sorrowful activity, as homes were opened to receive and care for the injured men, women and children. There was no hospital in the town, and all the available physicians, with those brought hastily from neighboring towns, could not attend to the wounded without delay.

The latest information was that all of the injured probably would recover, except Louisa Fryer, a negro, believed to be fatally injured.

Members of Sousa's band, now appearing at the automobile show, will have the chance of their lifetime at a possum dinner Friday night when Mays Baderet, the violin maker at No. 241-2 Peachtree street, entertains them at an old-fashioned possum dinner.

Story of Surprise Weddings Rivals A "Movie" Scenario

John B. Barlow, a young business man of Piedmont, Ala., got married today afternoon without telling his wife, Dr. J. C. Webb, about it. Twelve hours later Dr. Webb got married without telling Barlow and without knowing that Barlow also had wed.

Both came to Atlanta for their honeymoon. Barlow registered at the "New" Hotel Wednesday morning and Dr. Webb and his bride registered at the "New" Hotel Wednesday night.

Each learned that the other was here, but each thought the other did not know he was there. They exchanged upon the clerk the necessary keeping their presence secret, and they dodged each other all day long in order to escape the "fuss" and official congratulations that were imminent. Mr. Barlow and his bride left for home shortly after noon Thursday.

SCORES OF POOR LITTLE CHILDREN FACE TRAGEDY OF THE EMPTY STOCKING

It doesn't take much to make a child happy at Christmas time. If it's a little boy, a green jack-in-the-box, a monkey on a string, or a set engine and cars, will fill his small soul with bliss; and a little girl will be overwhelmed by joy if she finds in her stocking a rag doll or a woody teddy bear. How she'll hug it, and snuggles over it and sing it to sleep! And if you come too near, she'll wail with an astonishing fortitude and a soft, "Be quiet, baby's sleeping!"

And how hard it was not to go and see, though you knew that if you did you'd frighten Santa away and he'd never come back.

Then Samper to the Stocking. And then maybe you remember how you awoke, trembling with eagerness, at the first sign of dawn; how you slid from your bed and scampered into the room where you had hung your stocking; how you snuggled your bare foot against the warm hearth of the fireplace, and with a heart full of hope and desire, you looked up at your stocking, and then—

Maybe you were one of those who came face to face with the most pitiful tragedy of childhood—the tragedy of the empty stocking.

Maybe you remember how the tears blinded your eyes, and your heart felt suddenly like lead. You would hardly believe it, yet there was the stocking, empty, and dangling mockingly in your face. Then you crept back to your bed, and buried your face in your pillow, and cried until you went to sleep. And you never quite forgot the terrible loneliness of Christmas Day, nor the sadness in the eyes of your mother, isn't it? Well, something to you, to be able to spare a little child the agonizing sorrow that follows a giftless Christmas?

And if you were one of those children whose stocking was filled to overflowing, don't you remember the joy that filled your heart?

Make Your Christmas Happy. Isn't it worth something to you to be able to bring that joy to some other child, to know that through you a little heart is glad and little eyes sparkle with happiness?

Well, better Christmas could you want. Mr. Growup Man, that's what you want. "Some little boy or girl is happy to-day, because I remembered that I was a child," with the warm knowledge that Santa had brought Christmas cheer into a home that otherwise would have been cheerless and gloomy?

The question is this: How much will it cost you to go? A nickel? A dime? A quarter? A half-dollar? A dollar, or ten dollars, or twenty-five dollars? If it is worth anything to you to make a child happy, or a happy child, or a money order, to the Christmas Editor of The Georgian and American, or call at 20 East Alabama street, and hand in the money, and say it's for the Empty Stocking Fund.

Then all you have to do is that the money is converted into dolls and toys, and candy, and the children are happy. He will see that the money brings happiness into hundreds of homes that would be dark and cheerless, where every cent that the parent has to give is for the bare necessities of life. He knows you never heard of, and all you need to do is to give a little more, and you'll be the money, and taken the sadness from a mother's eyes.

And after all, isn't it worth it?

DOOD HEIRS LOSE FIRST CLASH OVER WILL

Executor's Demurrer Is Sustained and Plaintiff's Counsel Gives Notice of Appeal.

The battle-at-law of Mrs. Barbara Dodd lost the opening battle for her estate of nearly a quarter of a million dollars when Judge Ellis, at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, sustained a demurrer filed by Charles E. Carpenter, executor of the will, through the attorneys, C. P. Gore and West-land, Jr.

Judge Ellis, an attorney for the executor, announced immediately that an appeal would be taken to the Supreme Court and the sensational evidence given to have been prepared by the plaintiff will be divulged there, if not.

Judge Ellis' ruling promptly shut off the impending testimony, which charged monomaniac and intimated, even in the preliminary version of the case, an accusation that Mrs. Dodd, because her relatives would not help her "dispose" of or injure her husband, had cut them off from participation in her estate.

Witnesses Say She Was Sane. Mr. Currier had three witnesses Thursday morning to speak for Mrs. Dodd's soundness of mind at the time the will was drawn in December, 1909. Albert C. Broom, a witness to the document, Miss Clifton Clifton, the photographer who typed the will and who had known Mrs. Dodd four years, and C. P. Gore, the attorney who drew the will, all testified that Mrs. Dodd was of sound mind and able to make an intelligent disposition of her property.

Mrs. Fannie T. Ackerman, of Macon, sister of Mrs. Dodd; Henry E. Dible, a brother, and Barbara E. Dible, daughter of Dible, George Dible, Macon, Dible and Thomas M. Dible, niece and nephews of Mrs. Dodd, all testified that Mrs. Dodd was of sound mind and able to make an intelligent disposition of her property.

Left $200,000 to College. Her estate Mrs. Dodd left $200,000 to Mercer College, $20,000 to the Georgia Baptist Orphan Home, $20,000 to the infant ward at Grady Hospital, and the proceeds from the sale of her jewelry, except a diamond ring, to her niece, the Home for the Friendless Women. She also left $25,000 to her sister, Mrs. H. G. Garner, whom she later charged cruelty and intimated that she had cut her off from her estate.

30 STORM DEAD BODIES WASHED UP BY LAKE

Restored Communications Bring Fresh Stories of Horrors—Loss to Reach $5,000,000

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Slowly restored communication today told of the horror laid in the wake of one of the worst storms that has ever visited the Great Lakes region. What the total death toll was between Friday night and yesterday may not be known before several days. The number of 100 was generally accepted. Twenty-eight bodies have been washed ashore in different parts of the region. Property loss was estimated at nearly $5,000,000.

Six men met death when lightning struck a wrecked steamer off the coast of Lake Michigan. The bodies of the six men were washed ashore on the Canadian side of Lake Huron. They were believed to be from the Canadian freight steamer "Huron."

Cleveland Still Paralyzed by Snow.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Nov. 12.—The city is recovering from the most blizzard that ever held Cleveland in its grasp, to face the menace of snow and fever.

Communication by rail and wire is practically being restored. Families which began to be left yesterday by the city from the sources of food supply were partially relieved. A few trains began to run today.

Snow is piled many feet deep everywhere. Warmer weather and rain are expected. Should the winter season Cleveland would find itself in the throes of the worst food in its history.

The water supply is in an unprecedentedly dangerous condition. Cleveland draws its water from Lake Erie and has no filtration system. The storm has made the water so muddy and has so be- come it with seaweed and floating wreckage, that it is un- drinkable water, and pestilence threat- ens.

Schools will not be reopened until next week. Telephone service is still down and can not be fully re- stored for many weeks.

The collapse of buildings and lives have been already caused the death of five persons. Dozens of others have been injured.

The suffering among the poor has been all too recent. Calls for relief from charitable organizations have exceeded all former records.

It is impossible to bury the city's dead because the streets are so black with mud and debris that the bodies are not visible. The city is so full of mud and debris that the bodies are not visible. The city is so full of mud and debris that the bodies are not visible.

The danger from fire is threaten- ing, but so far the city has escaped any serious conflagrations. The fire- fighters in the business section are being many feet under snowdrifts and fire apparatus can not penetrate the snow in the streets.

SPARKLIGHTS on GEORGIA POLITICS

By JAMES B. NEVIN

No courts of review in the United States are worked more thoroughly or more continuously than the Supreme and Appeals Courts of Georgia. The various restrictions through- out these two courts are so rigid and uncompromising that it has almost reached the point where the judges thereof must work all the time. If not, to keep up with the work assigned to them.

In Georgia, contrary to the practice in more than half the States, any case, no matter how small and insignificant, may be carried to the courts of review. Cases involving a title of five dollars have been carried there. In addition to that, cases submitted to either for affirmation or reversal must be acted upon within twelve months, or they stand affirmed automatically. This provision the courts have construed as mandatory upon them to dispose of all cases within twelve months, as they would con- sider an automatic affirmation of a court below as more or less of a reflection upon themselves.

For the reasons stated, therefore, and for other reasons, the members of the two Georgia courts of review find it necessary to reside in Atlanta continuously, in order to be available for work in the Capitol at all times. The Court of Appeals Judges spend practically all of their time in the Capitol, either hearing arguments, consulting, or writing decisions; and the work of the Supreme Court Judges is little less heavy. There are six Supreme Court Judges, and they are assisted by only three Judges of the Court of Appeals.

The suggestion that the salaries of the Judges of the courts of review be raised generally is popular through- out Georgia—certainly the salaries of no public officials could be raised with less friction than the Legislature.

The Governor met another one of those queries addressed letters to- day—the kind that give Secretary Jesse Perry large and frequent pain. This one was addressed thus: "and it came from Sweden: His Excellency, The American Governor, Of Georgia, Atlanta."

"Guess You Yonson, or whoever it is writing this thing, thinks we some- times have Chinamen or Zulus Govern- ing Here."

George P. Munro is being talked about as a candidate for Congress against "Uncle Charles" Adams in the Fourth.

Indeed, it is confidently predicted that his antagonism will be forth- coming in a few days.

The run against him has been raised for years in Georgia, and he undoubtedly will be hard to beat. Still, there is no sort of law against anybody trying it, as Mr. Munro undoubtedly knows; and Mr. Adams' secret "knows his way around" pretty well, politically.

Former President of the State Sen- ate W. S. West, of Valdosta, is spend- ing a few days at the Anley.

Mr. West's name frequently has been mentioned in connection with the Governorship, but as he and the present Governor are bosom friends, he is not saying anything much about himself in that capacity nowadays. He is a very strong man politically, however, and if he should run for Governor, South Georgia, at least, is apt to give him many willing and enthusiastic votes.

Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture Dan Hughes' recent interview, in which he urged the farmers to sell their crops with this fall, has been the subject of much atten- tion and approval throughout the State.

Not only was the advice given by Mr. Hughes apparently sound and ac- ceptable, but it was couched in exceptionally attractive English and ac-

WILSON SEEKING MAN TO UNITE MEXICANS

Sounding Out Huerta and Carranza on List of Leaders for Provisional President.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 12.—The military commander this after- noon called the Chief of Police to a secret conference and indicated that troops will be called out within a few hours.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—President Wilson is making a final effort to bring the Huerta and Carranza factions together in Mexico and to name a Provisional President, ac- cording to a report current in ad- ministrative circles here. It is be- lieved that William Bayard Hale has presented a list of names to General Carranza at Nogales and that John Lind is sending out the Huerta re- port on the same candidates in Mex- ico City.

Secretary of State Bryan refused this afternoon to discuss the Paris re- port that the United States has re- quested Carranza to demand the res- ignation of Huerta.

Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the United States warship at Vera Cruz, reported to the Navy Depart- ment that the Huerta faction in Mex- ico City remains at Tuxpan to await the outcome of the battle with Carranza. He also reported that the United States has been taken out of the Mexican crisis, according to the accepted belief in official circles today.

It is known the President has been urged to give to the House an out- line of his policies before November 18, when the new Mexican Congress will meet. It is argued the pub- lication of such a statement directly in- volves the convening of the Congress and discount whatever may be con- sidered the latter would have the situation as a whole pointed out that since Hu- erta is now in power.

European Governments have been in- formed of the future American policy toward Mexico, there is no reason why it should be withheld from the people of the United States.

The one significant development of the past 48 hours is that the rela- tions between the United States and the three European powers most di- rectly concerned in Mexico—Great Britain, Germany and France—now are on a much better footing. This is due not only to the speech made by President Wilson in which he dis- claimed all intention of opposing the American policy, but also to the frank interchange of views which the State Department initiated some days ago.

Dr. Hale Confers
With Carranza Again.

NOGALLES, ARIZ., Nov. 12.—To- day's conference between Dr. William Bayard Hale and General Venustiano Carranza, head of the Constitutional force, is expected to have a marked effect on the future policy of the United States in Mexico.

General Carranza has notified the American Government that if the em- bargo on munitions of war were lifted, he could drive General Huerta from power within a month. Dr. Hale came here as the representative of President Wilson to give Carranza an opportunity to prove his claims.

Dr. Hale is of the opinion that energetic methods must be used to oust Huerta, and it is said that he believes only intervention can solve the present difficulty.

30 Carloads of Ammunition to Border.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Nov. 12.—Local freight officials of the Illinois Central said today that in the past week 30 solid carloads of ammunition had been hauled over their lines through Mem- phis to the Mexican border.

American, Driven From Mexico, Urges Intervention

MOBILE, Nov. 12.—H. M. Usher, who was a wealthy merchant of Tur- key, Mexico, and whose business was ruined by the last revolution, has just arrived in Mobile. He says that half has not been told of the awful conditions in Mexico, and that Amer- icans are on their knees praying for intervention by the United States.

"If the United States raises the embargo on arms, conditions in Mex- ico will be speedily remedied," said Mr. Usher. "If the United States in- tervenes in Mexico it will require 500,000 men and several years' war- fare to put that country in good shape."

Huerta Quells
Stir in Cabinet.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 12.—General Huerta has quelled the last element of opposition that has developed in his Cabinet since the relations of Mexico and the United States became crit- ical. Announcement was made to- day that Minister Aldape was "seriously ill because of overwork."

This presages announcement that Aldape will retire from the Cabinet. He has been at odds for some time with Ministers Blumenthal and Moheno and his retirement will make the "war element" among Huerta's advisers au- thoritative.

Aldape has voted with the other Ministers on matters affecting the foreign policy of the present govern- ment, but he has been the center of some story debates before yielding to the pressure of his colleagues.

Rumors that Chihuahua has fallen into the hands of the rebels were cir- culated here early to-day, but were immediately denied by the Govern- ment.

PRINCETON NOT OVERCONFIDENT OF A VICTORY

"Big Bill" Edwards Declares Yale Eleven Shows a Vast Improvement in Playing.

By W. H. ("Big Bill") Edwards

New York Street Cleaning Commissioner And One of Princeton's Most Famous Gridiron Heroes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Princeton plays her last football game for the season of 1923 against Yale at New Haven next Saturday.

Yale has been held in high regard for her football ability. A study of gridiron records shows Yale's position to be in an enviable one and anyone who thinks Yale will not show a good, strong team against Princeton is very much mistaken.

When Yale is humbled, let her opponents watch out.

There has been a big improvement at the Yale field since the Colgate game and the Yale team in the Brown game shows much advance in team play. The spirit of Yale still is the old Yale spirit but it is much more definitely shown.

Consider Yale Strong.

As for Princeton, the experts in the Yale game and strong Yale's physical condition is excellent, and the players are eager to square themselves in the big final games with Princeton and Harvard.

Yale has been working on a few—only a few—extra plays, discovering plays, and that is true football.

Yale has a good kicker and two good ends, and a fair center. With this combination much can be done in the new game of football toward a successful ending.

Princeton is going to consider Yale as strong as the strongest team Yale ever had. This is wise for the cause of any team which expects to win this year, and both teams strong to defeat, will enter the game ready to play their best.

She's Injury Costly.

Princeton started Tuesday in light of mind to prepare for Saturday's game. It was unfortunate for Princeton that Shea was injured for he will not participate in Saturday's game. Shea had promised to be one of the best made in the country.

Yale is taking a big brace to beat Princeton, and unless Princeton can make good, fast kicking, Yale will be black out some of Princeton's.

The great success in the winning game of today is to defeat. Harvard's success in having four or five forwards smash into the man who starts to run with the ball is what Princeton will try to copy.

Princeton will try to copy. It is a game of many different things, and one who runs with the ball has to be met by a line of several players.

Yale's injury game promises to be a very hard, close fought game, with the advantage in Princeton's favor.

Auburn Choice Over Commodores

McGugin Has a Great Record

FOR THE 10th time since Dan McGugin took charge of the Black and Gold squad at Vanderbilt, the Commodores will face a S. I. A. A. team second in the nation Saturday when the Metrodome meet Auburn at Richmond Field in Birmingham.

McGugin's Southern record has been unsurpassed. He came to Nashville in the early part of the season, and since that time, with the slight exception of one year, he has won the championship of the S. I. A. A. and even that year he entered his team as co-champion.

And McGugin not only defeated all these teams, but he is a rule-maker, and he has won the championship of the S. I. A. A. and even that year he entered his team as co-champion.

What Is To Become of Me?

That's the question that was put squarely up to Evelyn Nesbit Thaw as she faced an ordeal, such as few women survive, at the trial of her husband for the slaying of Stanford White. How she tried to answer the query forms the nucleus for another thrilling installment of the life history of this remarkable woman. It appears in

NEXT SUNDAY'S AMERICAN

as one of the many gripping tales which make up this truly great paper. There will be fact and fiction in plenty.

Where Shakespeare Went to Church is sure to interest the students and is Sunday reading of the highest caliber. Then there's a real sermon as well in

The Moral Lesson of the Modern Rake's Progress which is the story of how young Gates hurried himself to an untimely grave. And along that line Clara Morris will explain

Wahoo Praises Carlisle Eleven Indians Are Bunch of Kidders

CARLISLE, PA., Nov. 12.—To the man who believes that the Indians in athletics is a stool the cartoonist of Charlie Wahoo (Wahoo), the one-time famous right end of the Carlisle Indians, to the effect that the members of his race, on the gridiron, at least, are a "bunch of Kidders" will come as a distinct surprise to Guyon, who was here yesterday on his way to the meeting of the National Baseball Commission in Columbus, Meade that the Indians have their football work more fully than any other players. They regard it merely as a recreation, he says. This opinion was confirmed by their coach, Pop Warner, who says that the Indians have as keen a sense of humor as have any of their white opponents. Guyon witnessed the Johns Hopkins football game in Baltimore on Saturday and related a couple of stories concerning "Babe" Wahoo. "Babe" Wahoo is a famous right end. It appears that the Indians came to the conclusion that the officials were fixing Hopkins to lose the better part of the game. So, during a halt in the game, Wahoo tapped the referee on the shoulder and said, "Amity, you are playing a good game today, but why don't you go over to the lines and put one of those arms on?"

A few moments later Wahoo was making a run around the end of the whole play, and when he reached the end, he was met by the officials and demanded the reason. "You were outside," said the "outsider," exclaimed Wahoo, looking down at his feet. "You outside," retorted the official. "You outside," replied Wahoo and then a smile broke out over his broad and mustache. "You see, you know I understand—I must have been right arm swing on the line," he said. Guyon and Warner, however, were of such stories to tell to enhance their statements and the Indian humor and good temper in their games. Often, Warner, confesses they manage to get the joke on a hum.

Guyon, who is now located in Atlanta, Ga., is making a strong effort to get a game for some Southern team with the Indians each season. It is understood that there is some possibility of such an event next year.

GEORGIAN SPORTS COVERED by EXPERTS

"Big Bill" Edwards Declares Yale Eleven Shows a Vast Improvement in Playing.

By W. H. ("Big Bill") Edwards

New York Street Cleaning Commissioner and One of Princeton's Most Famous Gridiron Heroes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Princeton plays her last football game for the season of 1912 against Yale at New Haven next Saturday.

Yale has been held in high regard for her football ability. A study of previous records shows Yale's position to be an enviable one, and anyone who thinks Yale will not show a good, strong team against Princeton is very much mistaken.

When Yale is humbled, let her opponents watch out.

There has been a big improvement at the Yale field since the Colgate game, and the Yale team is the Brown game shows much advance in team play. The spirit of Yale still lives, and that spirit has increased lately since defeat.

There is not a man on the Yale team but what would give everything to defeat Princeton and Harvard, but any team that goes to New Haven expecting a walk-over had better get down and reason out some of these facts.

Consider Yale Strong.

As for Princeton, she expects to find Yale good and strong. Yale's physical condition is excellent, and the players are eager to square themselves in the big final games with Princeton and Harvard.

Yale has been working on a few—only a few—strong plays, distance-throwing plays, and that is true head-work.

Yale has a good kicker and two good ends, and a fair center. With this combination much can be done in the new game of football toward a successful ending.

Princeton is going to consider Yale as strong as the strongest team Yale ever had. This is wise, for the success of any team depends largely upon this spirit, and both teams, strong by defeat, will enter the game resolved to play their best.

She's Injury Costly.

Princeton started Tuesday in light ideal work to prepare for Saturday's game. It was unfortunate for Princeton that Stan was injured, for he will not participate in Saturday's game. Stan had promised to be one of the best ends in the country.

Yale is taking a big chance to beat Princeton, and unless Princeton can make good, that chance will be liable to break some of Princeton's backs.

The great success in the winning game of today is no defense. Harvard's success in having four players forwards smash into the men who play to run with the ball, and Princeton will try to copy.

There is nothing more discouraging to a man than to see the ball thrown to him and tackled before he can get his feet under him.

The Yale-Princeton game promises to be a very hard, exciting game with the advantage in Princeton's favor.

The Man Who Picks Winners Is Always a Hero Till He Tosses a Lone Bloomer

GEORGIAN SPORTS COVERED BY EXPERTS

PREAS THINKS
S. I. A. A. RULING
VERY UNJUST

Jim Was Careful to Protect Himself Against Professionalism. Hard Blow to Tech.

Jim's hard luck story did not come until late, but when it came there was gloom in the room. Jack Heiman, Assistant Coach, the team, and all the other boys are in a very melancholy mood today. Heiman being the head of them all.

This feeling is caused all from the loss of one player, and a good one. At the S. I. A. A. meeting yesterday afternoon Preas was declared ineligible to participate in college athletics on the charge of professionalism.

This was the greatest blow and more sorrow than any other incident that has happened to Jim in his sixteen years of existence.

When the news reached Jim he did not believe it, taking it merely as a joke, but when he was convinced it was true, he did not know what to do with himself. He has been a sad, depressed and humiliating expression ever since.

Jim is a good, clean, clever sportsman since early childhood to become a college athlete of the Jim Preas variety, but to think of his being ruled off for professionalism caused him to lose all his athletic ambition.

Jim says he is unjustly accused and does not understand the condition of the case upon which he is suffering a penalty.

Preas has not, or did not, receive money for athletic service, but received a scholarship from a prep school, and this scholarship was awarded to him for his athletic service. Preas thought he was getting it for his general excellence in the school he attended just before this one.

That is the ground upon which he was ruled out of S. I. A. A.

Jim very easily could have been a professional, for he has had many offers to play football and basketball for money, but he would not accept any offer. He has been guarding himself against the strict S. I. A. A. rule for several years. Last year while he was at Riverside he would even practice with the Gainesville players, saying that some one might say he was playing with them and getting pay for it.

Jim is very anxious to get back into the game, but so efforts are being made to get him back as the season will be closed before he could begin to get it straightened with the S. I. A. A. representatives.

The loss of Preas is not the only blow the jacket squad suffered. Taylor is out with a broken bone in his foot, and can not possibly get

"Parlor Baseball" Didn't Work

Players Tried Being Polite Once

By O. B. Keeler.

ONCE upon a time there were a couple of baseball teams that agreed to cut out all the tough stuff and be polite on the field, even to the umpire. And the umpire, on his side, agreed to be polite and gentlemanly and forbearing in his attitude toward the players.

That is not a fairy story. It is the cold truth. It was tried once—just once.

Joe Kelly tells the story, and as we get it direct from a guy who had it straight from a pitcher, who got it from Joe, we are able to offer the report of this unparalleled experiment verbatim, or, at least, as nearly so as the postal authorities will permit.

YOU can refine baseball until you're black in the face," said the old Baltimore star, "and you can make a parlor game out of it by giving the umpire power of life and death, but you can't make ball games stop talking in the heat of action. Baseball can be made, and is being made, gentlemanly and clean. But when it comes to the Chesterfield stuff between umpires and players—good-night!"

That is Mr. Kelly's gentlemanly lead, following which we will endeavor to relate what happened in the aftermath.

IT would seem that in the old days the Baltimore and Boston clubs decided to play one game—just one—on the basis of entire gallantry, courtesy and politeness. This is the story of the game, and the first inning was as smooth as a wafer of cream connecting with a Persian letter.

There was no outburst when Mr. Hurst called a strike on Tom McCarthy that was leveled with his ears. There were blinks, but he continued with wonderful poise:

"We don't call a strike high, Mr. Umpire."

"We don't call a strike back courteously."

"But I may have erred in my judgment that time, Mr. McCarthy, but surely overruled, but he continued:

And in the second half, when Jack

Doyle slid into second in a cloud of dust and Mr. Hurst said "out!" Jack came out of the dust with his face as red as a spanked lobster, only to remember the agreement and remark, politely:

"Pardon me, Mr. Hurst, but I fancied Mr. Long failed to touch me."

Whereupon Herman Long, equally thoughtful, bowed and said: "I am under the impression that I did touch Mr. Doyle just as Chesterfield with his minute."

"You're a cheap crook," shrieked Muggsy McGraw, at which Hurst made the observation that they were all a lot of yellow dogs, quitters, and so forth.

And then the surplus stuff having been released in the accustomed way the game went on.

But the polite stuff was off. Decidedly off.

Matty Hurls Giants To Victory Over Sox

SACRAMENTO, CAL., Nov. 12.

The New York Giants and Chicago White Sox arrived here at noon today. A large crowd was anticipated by the prospect of the exhibition baseball game by the world touring clubs.

At six o'clock Matty Mathews pitched a winning game for the Giants which ended in a score of 4 to 1.

ANOTHER FOOTBALL VICTIM.

DAVENTPORT, IOWA, Nov. 12.—Football claimed another victim here in the death of Ed Mortensen, captain of St. Andrews College team. He was injured in the opening game of the season, September 27, sustaining a fracture of the right leg. Blood poisoning necessitated amputation and pneumonia developed. His death occurred yesterday at Mercy Hospital. He was 21 years old.

What Is To Become of Me?

That's the question that was put squarely up to Evelyn Nesbit Thaw as she faced an ordeal, such as few women survive, at the trial of her husband for the slaying of Stanford White. DUFFY TO LEAD SALE OF RED CROSS SEALS

Mr. R. Duffy, well known in organization and campaign work, has been appointed secretary of the Red Cross Christmas Seal committee for Atlanta and vicinity, and has just returned on the 1914 campaign. Mr. Duffy has offices in the rooms of the Atlanta Anti-Tuberculosis Association, seventh floor, Gould Building, where he will be in close touch with the details of the organization in whose interest the campaign is to be pushed.

The chairman of the general committee is H. S. Cole, with whom there are working several subcommittees, each with its own chairman, and each with a particular important detail of the work to handle. In this way there has been secured the best organization Atlanta has ever had for the placing of the Christmas seal.

"We have started a very ambitious campaign this year," Mr. Duffy said, "but we have a strong organization and every member of it is determined to work toward the purpose of selling in Atlanta, together with East Point, College Park, Hapeville and Chamblee, a total of 1,000,000 seals this year. Last year Atlanta alone sold more than 50 per cent of the total sales disposed of in Georgia, and I see no reason why we should not this year sell 50 per cent of the number allotted to the state, which is 2,000,000. The state committee is strongly organized and better work than ever will be done in all the cities of the state."

"We shall handle first the whole sale sales of seals in lots of $25,000 or more. Next the whole business women of Atlanta will conduct the campaign, and finally will come the general street sales, during the week work at Christmas. The committee is well equipped for the work this year, and we are going after results for it means the life, support and maintenance of the Anti-Tuberculosis Association."

All Around The Town

Little Facts and Fancies About Well-Known Atlantans.

The latest visitors to Atlanta to inspect the new sewage disposal plant, a system which promises to revolutionize sewage disposal all over the world, were Mayor Walcott and Council member of Public Works John A. Hader, of New Rochelle, N. Y. Chief of Construction Clayton's greatest pleasure is allowing the new plants to the many visitors who come to Atlanta from all parts of the country. He had to send an assistant with the New Rochelle visitors, however, because, to save time, they wanted to make the inspection on Sunday. That was against the religious compunction of Captain Clayton, and he told them so!

The novelty of securing a $100,000 newspaper has called somewhat on William T. Healy, Atlanta capitalist. For months he has spent practically all his time watching the wonderful new building in Forsyth street take form, without thought of other interest. Now that it is nearing completion, however, Mr. Healy's thoughts have turned to his old-time favorite sport, fishing.

"I have found something I have been looking for years," he said. "It is a boat that will buoy one in the water. I am going to Florida to fish, and with my new boat I don't care if the boat does turn over."

LABOR SECRETARY HITS MINE OWNERS

SEATTLE, WASH., Nov. 13.—Discussion of the speech of Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson was indulged in freely to-day by delegates to the American Federation of Labor, whose convention the Calumet union addressed last night. In his speech Secretary Wilson was bitter in his condemnation of the mining companies of the Calumet, Mich., coal region, where union miners have been on strike several months. He addressed the delegates of the convention as "yellow unionists." He said the largest mining company in the Calumet district was organized in 1870 with an actual investment of $1,000,000 and since that time has made nearly $200,000,000 net profit.

"I declared the Secretary," the officials of this company refused to meet a committee of miners and laid wages and working conditions, and declared the great offices of the Department of Labor, which were offered to bring about a quick settlement of the strike difficulty.

CORN SHOW BOOST TO STOCK RAISING

Encouragement of the live-stock industry is to be made part of the annual Georgia Corn Show. The Georgia Corn Club, which makes the best showing will become the owner of a fine, thoroughbred, short horn bull, and probably the next step will be the offering of prizes at the corn show for the best bred cattle.

This prize, a valuable one not only in itself, but from the standpoint of encouraging cattle raising in Georgia, is offered by W. H. White, Jr., president of the White Provision Company, in a letter to Secretary Walter G. Cooper.

The Corn Show Committee will take up at once the matter of the rules under which the prize is to be given.

"Last year out of 10,000 head of cattle which we slaughtered, 5,000 were Georgia raised," said Mr. White, speaking of the growth of the cattle industry in this state. "This is more Georgia-grown cattle than were ever before shipped into Atlanta in a similar period, and is indicative of the
